

Disparity vs inequity

A disparity refers to a significant difference or inequality between two or more things. It is neutral and can describe any kind of imbalance, whether it is fair or unfair. Inequity specifically refers to unfair or unjust differences. It carries a moral or ethical judgment, implying that the difference is wrong and needs to be corrected.
